OBJECTIVE:

As an aspiring Junior Software Developer currently immersed in acquiring my diploma, I am eager to implement my skills in full-stack development, particularly in HTML, JavaScript, React, and CSS, into practical, real-world applications. My academic journey is not only just about learning; it's about preparing to contribute and implement the skills effectively to innovative projects and application development. Once I transition from student to professional, I will be fully committed to use my technical proficiency, alongside my honed problem-solving and critical analysis abilities, to enhance the technological landscape at Secure Energy Services Inc. My objective is to not only support but also bring the development and maintenance of cutting-edge applications and projects, applying every surface of my education to deliver impactful results.
